Proxifier Portable is an all-in-one solution which combines HTTP, HTTPS, SOCKS 4 and SOCKS 5 proxies into one package. It offers all the required features to provide a complete solution for managing the traffic to and from a client's computer via the Internet. It is packed with extensive support to cover SOCKS 5 and SOCKS 4 proxies as well as HTTP and HTTPS proxies. Additionally, it also offers a powerful logging feature that lets you retrace all the information regarding the connections to and from your system. It also offers a great graphical interface with which you can easily create proxy chains and assign different types of rules for each server. The application is also very easy to use as it comes with a complete set of options and settings through which you can configure it according to your specific needs. All you need to do is choose the proxy server you want to work with, assign it with a specific authentication, configure the filter according to your needs and assign it to the application you want. Once you have done that, you can simply click on 'Connect' and make sure to set the filter rules for each host. You can even allow or disallow certain hosts to access your network through the program. If you use the logging feature, you can view the information regarding the different types of activities performed through the program. This is very useful as it will help you in tracing the origin of the traffic. If you are curious about the details, you can view the information regarding the actual settings made to the proxy server. KeyMacro is a software program designed to automate the process of generating "Virtual Keyboard" type macros that you can use to produce certain combinations of keystrokes to execute tasks. If you use your keyboard all day, having the ability to create macros for the various keys can become very useful for you. A good example is a programmer who is using the keyboard all day. It might be that he or she wants to change the text of a label or if the application he or she is working on requires a certain keyboard sequence to function properly. With the use of a Virtual Keyboard, you can create macros that will execute the keyboard sequence required by the software program you are using. This can be very helpful for a programmer or anyone who uses a word processor or other programs that require certain keyboard sequences to function properly. If you are a computer user who is using a keyboard all day, the ability to create "Virtual Keyboard" type macros can be useful for you. Overview NetTraffic Monitor is an application designed to provide advanced features for any user who needs to monitor and control the traffic to and from a PC or other server. The program offers the use of proxy servers, has a comprehensive monitoring and logging facility, a powerful set of tools and is 100% free. When a computer connects to the Internet, it usually sends and receives data to and from one of several addresses. We know these addresses as a domain name, which is a designator for a server on the Internet, a service provider, or for a web site. Each domain name has a numerical address, called an IP address. A computer uses a domain name to locate and send data to a particular IP address. A domain name is a good identifier because it's easy to remember, it's unique, and it's consistent regardless of where the data goes. IP addresses change from time to time, so a domain name is the best way to identify a specific computer. All web servers have a static IP address. They never change. A web site has a unique domain name, such as `www.microsoft.com`. The domain name identifies the server where all the Web pages on that site are stored. When you visit the `www. 1d6a3396d6
