does this looping python code take some time to loop? I am trying to randomly create a list and the code below takes some time to loop. It is creating a list with 1000 random items to which some function is applied later. Any help or idea will be appreciated.

import random
int = 1000
def fun(x):
    return x
for x in range(int):
    mylist = list(random.sample(x, int)) mylist.sort()
    mylist.reverse()
print(mylist)

A: You are generating a list of size 1000, then sorting it, then doing a reverse shuffle. This is a lot of operations, all in a tight loop. What are you really trying to do? What are the steps you are performing?

A: You are doing a lot of work (adding 1000 items to a list; sorting and reversing that "Sounds can be images. Sounds can make a visual picture." In the future, the world is going to be using music. Be it a popular song, or a retro song, or karaoke, or a classical piece. As long as sound is produced, S2V has its utility. Music is one of our biggest emotions; it can make us happy, sad, and sometimes it can even make us cry. By having S2V installed in your home, you can watch the sounds produced on your PC turn into colorful images. Laid-Back Typing Art is an excellent piece of software to help you get your daily work done as fast as possible. It features a variety of schemes that are certainly reminiscent of games. Chorus Mode: It features the "Chorus" mode in which you will be able to type in your text with various effects. From Pop-style to Web-Bing Style: With "Pop" you will see your text appear with an annoying pop sound effect. From a Perfect Line to an Ambiguous Line: The "Perfect" mode suggests your text to be perfectly regular. What's New in the Sound2Vision?

Sound2Vision is a very cool application that will translate the sounds played into a color image, resulting in harmony between sound and image. S2V gives musical touch with eyes. It converts music into images based on the patented technology of the world's first HarmoniColor System, which can implement

1:1 reciprocal conversion of sound and light by according the frequency ratio of Do, Mi, and Sol with the frequency rate of Red, Green, and Blue through frequency analysis of sound and color (light) by harmonics.
