I'm having trouble manipulating a value in a subroutine. The value I'm dealing with is an array of a structure I created. The subroutine is within the package where the structure is created. My structure looks like this: package myStructure; # @param int $tag (Assigns the value to this variable) # @param int $val (Assigns the value to this variable) # @return int (Returns the value of the variable) sub new { my $class = shift; my $tag = shift; my $val = shift; my $self = { 'tag' => $tag, 'val' => $val }; return $self; } My main program looks like this: my $s_structure = myStructure->new(1000, 3); print "The structure has the tag value ". $s_structure->{'tag'}. " "; print "The structure has the val value ". $s_structure->{'val'}. " "; The output of this program is: The structure
