Random folder: Kahkan.pdf The completion of the undergraduate degree of Enfermagem requires the consolidation of theoretical knowledge and application on practical aspects of health, both on the bachelor and graduate levels. It is desirable that the degree has a clearly defined structure, and that aspects on education are incorporated throughout the whole degree. The purpose of this work is to contribute in this area, focusing on the introduction of a course named Gerenciamento em Enfermagem. The course structure will allow students to foster skills and competencies to assist in the application of the science of Nursing and Health in a health care practice; this is also how will be stimulated the development of critical and creative aspects on the profession. Is divided in two stages, with the pre-requisite of an undergraduate university course in the field of Health and a doctorate course in the science of Health and nursing care. Gerenciamento em Enfermagem is a course is aimed to provide the students with a theoretical approach to Enfermagem, which emphasizes the basis for the decision of the Doctor to practice, the techniques used for the diagnosis, therapeutics and preventive care. It is designed for anyone wishing to pursue the degree course of Enfermagem with specialization in particular areas of the health, acting in practice and the students who wish to know other aspects, as nursing care.
