For example, a toy that is moved by an animal or a person to produce a visual or audible signal does not exist. Prior attempts to attract an animal or person's attention have included lights, whistles, bells, and toys that make sounds. Some prior art devices have been provided that attempt to attract an animal's or person's attention. In this regard, U.S. Pat. No. 4,406,484 provides a toy having a variable taper of multiple sloped surfaces that produce a sound in response to movement of the toy relative to a surface of a housing. However, none of the prior art is directed to producing a visual or audible signal to attract an animal or person's attention, nor is any of the prior art directed to a toy that requires a person's attention to turn on an electric power supply for a toy that produces a signal for attracting an animal's or person's attention.The video will start in 8 Cancel Get the FREE Mirror Football newsletter by email with the day's key headlines and transfer news Sign up Thank you for subscribing We have more newsletters Show me See our privacy notice Invalid Email Frank Lampard will take his place in the starting XI as England host Russia in a friendly on Tuesday evening. Lampard has been called into the squad after suffering an injury scare on Friday. The former Chelsea midfielder had to be helped from the pitch after limping off during the 2-2 draw with Denmark at Wembley. He is now expected to play some part in the game against Russia. James Ward-Prowse is likely to miss the game with the injury he sustained in the defeat to Croatia. England will be without Ashley Young and Danny Rose, who both have minor niggles. Goalkeeper Jordan Pickford is set to start in goal, while new arrival Harry Maguire is likely to 4bc0debe42
